

Fighting to Secure Hoosier Tourists Tonopah Again Removed From Route

REPRESENTATIVE TO BE RUSHED EAST TO PRESS CLAIM OF SOUTH TO SECURE AUTOMOBILE PARTY

If Tonopah and Goldfield desire to route the Indianapolis automobile tour through this section, prompt action must be taken, for the latest reports from Indiana indicate that the travelers will leave the Midland trail at Eureka and continue directly to Reno and thence to the coast. The last official word received from the east was to the effect that the route included Tonopah, Goldfield, Bishop and from that city the party would continue north to Reno. Late advice is to the contrary and it appears that the Eureka and Austin road is now favored, thus cutting out southern Nevada completely.

The question was thoroughly discussed at the meeting of the Tonopah Auto club last evening, held at the brokerage office of Harry Epstein. Charges that G. S. Hoag, of the Ely Auto club was instrumental in diverting the party through Austin, were made and certain correspondence was presented showing that Hoag was in favor of Austin, notwithstanding his oft repeated statements to the contrary. It looks as if the Tonopah, Goldfield and Bishop clubs had been given the double-cross by Hoag and the letters bear out this belief.

V. L. Ricketts, of the Goldfield Tribune, leaves within a few days for Indianapolis and will represent the Tonopah and Goldfield auto clubs in an endeavor to again swing the route of the party through the southern districts. Ricketts will carry affidavits of prominent autoists who have lately traveled the road from Eureka to Reno, showing that the roads are almost impassable.

President Patrick of the Nevada Automobile association has received considerable information from the chairman of the Hoosier tour committee and it has been stated that but six days has been allowed for passing through Nevada. In a recent communication it was stated that the journey from Ely to Tonopah, thence to Goldfield, Bishop and north to Reno could not be made in this time. It was declared last night that the trip could be made in four days, and that the tour chairman had evidently been misinformed as to the belief that six days would be consumed.

The touring committee and the road committee of the local club was appointed to secure information and data to be presented to Ricketts and used in making the fight to route the party through the south. Data will be gathered of the roads from Bishop north to refute the false information already conveyed east that the roads were in poor condition. The committees will meet today and the results will be conveyed to Ricketts without delay.

SENATOR KEARNS GREETED FORMER HOUSEKEEPER

JUST BEFORE TRAM TIME DASHES
OFF TO SHAKE HANDS WITH COLORED LADY.

Senator Tom Kearns of Salt Lake City, in politics a republican of the set tight stripe, but in private life he is extremely democratic. On his recent visit to Tonopah his friends had a demonstration of this fact.

As he was leaving the Mizpah hotel to catch No. 23 for his summer home in Santa Rosa he espied Robert English, colored, standing on the sidewalk.

"Why, bless my heart, if there isn't Robert," he exclaimed with all the impetuosity of a school girl, rushing out he seized the colored man's hand and shaking it heartily inquired:

"How is Mrs. English. I wish I had time to see her. Only five blocks to your house, you say? Well, come along; I couldn't leave Tonopah without seeing Eliza."

Seizing the colored man's arm the former senator from Utah dashed up the middle of Main street chatting earnestly all the way.

Half a dozen mining men, operators, capitalists and managers stood on the sidewalk, filled with amazement. A big auto car was there also waiting to take the senator to the station. The train was due in ten minutes, but the big hearted owner of the Halifax, who had cheerfully sunk $100,000 in adding another producer to the Tonopah list, seemed to forget all about his distinguished colleagues.

Off he went down the street until he reached the modest cottage of the English family.

"Why, how d'ye do, Eliza," he exclaimed seizing the arm of the colored lady, who opened the door. "When did you leave Los Angeles? Why did you come to Tonopah? How long are you going to stay?"

These and a dozen other questions were fired in rapid succession and when the senator had his interest satisfied he invited Mr. and Mrs. English to his palatial country home at Santa Rosa to spend the rest of their days in a life of blissful leisure.

With a hearty handshake the visitor said goodbye and returned to the hotel where his companions stood watch in hand timing his train.

Mrs. English had acted as housekeeper for the Kearns family in Salt Lake City for seven years and as recognition of their promptness and fidelity the senator presented her with a costly clock, saying: "This is a reminder that you're always on time."

There was no time to lose to catch the train and the auto went down the street in a whirl of dust with the senator standing in the tonneau looking back and waving his hands at the colored man standing on the curb of the Mizpah hotel.

STEFANSSON OFF FOR LAND OF THE BLOND ESKIMO

NOTED EXPLORER SAILS FROM VICTORIA FOR TRIP TO THE ARCTIC.

(By Associated Press.)
VICTORIA, B. C., June 17.—Arrangements were completed today for the departure of the Arctic whaler, Karluk, carrying Dr. Stefansson's expedition party. It was announced the ship would sail this afternoon.

The Stefansson Arctic expedition financed entirely by the Canadian government, differs from most other polar exploration in that its objects are practical and commercial.

It purposes to learn whether a polar continent exists; to map the islands already discovered east of the mouth of the McKenzie river; to make a collection of Arctic flora and fauna; to survey the channels among the islands in the hope of establishing trade routes; to make a geological survey of the islands, which are believed to contain copper and other minerals, and to study the blond Eskimos of Coronation gulf, on the mainland south of Victoria.

No effort will be made to reach the North Pole; that will be left to Amundsen, who will sail into the Arctic next summer. No attempt will be made to bring back any of the blond Eskimos, or to open their country to civilization, which Stefansson says would destroy them. The expedition expects to return to Nome in September, 1916, but may be carried to Greenland, crossing the North Pole on the way.

The Stefansson expedition, when it leaves Nome, Alaska, on July 20, will travel on the old barkentine-rigged wooden whaler, Karluk, 247 tons, and the power schooner, Alaska, 32 tons, which is already in the north, and will meet the Karluk at Nome. From Nome the ships will proceed north through Bering Strait into the Arctic ocean, during the brief period of open water, and head east to Beaufort sea.

It is reported that a continent exists north of the sea, and the Karluk will steer due north and seek land on which Stefansson and his main party may establish a base. The Karluk returning to Herschel island for the winter.

The ice in Beaufort sea may lay hold of the Karluk and carry her toward Greenland, or it may crush the ship into bits. The explorers are prepared for either event. If the Karluk is able to make her way north through the supposed location of the continent and no land is found, she will if possible, turn to Patrick island, and winter there, with the purpose of making sledge journeys north and east.

A thorough scientific exploration will be made of Victorialand which is supposed to contain great copper deposits. Visits will also be paid to the blond Eskimos on the mainland. There is a tradition among the continental Eskimos that Victorialand, about which little is known, is inhabited by Eskimo tribes.

Stefansson and Anderson are thoroughly familiar with the country between Point Barrow, Alaska, and a point far to the east of the McKenzie river, which was the scene of their earlier explorations. In former journeys they were separated most of the time, except as they fell in with bands of Eskimos. Stefansson says there is no fear of starvation, for there is plenty of fish and game in the north. Except for some dainties, which the ship will carry, the party will subsist as the Eskimos do, on flesh of wild animals, with a few berries in the summer. Both Stefansson and Anderson speak the Eskimo tongue. They know all the tribes upon a long stretch of coast, and will obtain dogs from them.

TONOPAH WOMEN WILL ARRANGE TO HOLD NATAL DAY CELEBRATION INTONOPAH FOR BENEFIT CHILDREN

Notwithstanding the fact that Goldfield will celebrate the Fourth of July, and that an invitation has been extended to the people of Tonopah to attend the affair, a local celebration will also be held, according to the announcement today of a committee from the Women's clubs of this city. The local affair will be for the entertainment of the children and it is planned to present an interesting program. The work of canvassing the merchants to secure the necessary funds has been started and a willing response has been noted from all who have been approached. One of the first actions was to secure the services of the Tonopah Military band, for a natal day celebration would not be complete without patriotic music.

The committee of ladies will attend the mass meeting to be held at the offices of Harry Epstein this evening and a brief outline of their program will be placed before the gathering. The meeting has been called for the purpose of securing sentiment as to Tonopah joining with Goldfield in the big affair with the idea of the southerners returning the compliment next year when a like celebration would be held in this city. The ladies in charge are preparing to make a fight for a home observance of the holiday and will be present in force.

"We had no desire to take the initiative in the matter and preferred to have the business men take the lead," explained one of the members of the committee today, "but when because apparent that Tonopah was to be without a celebration, we decided that some sort of an entertainment should be held for the benefit of the children, and now our plans are being carried to execution. It is really the children who are entitled to celebrate July Fourth, for it is necessary to inculcate into the minds the real meaning of the day. To the grownups the day is likewise important but not so much as in the minds of the younger generation. Rather than have the youngsters forego this annual pleasure, for many would be unable to journey to Goldfield, we decided at the last moment to arrange for a celebration, and the public can be assured that the celebration will embrace a liberal program."

The matter will be thoroughly discussed at the mass meeting tonight and it has been urged that all parties interested be in attendance. A delegation from Goldfield is expected to be present and to outline the plans for the celebration to be held in that city. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock sharp.
